Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I would have to say that the settlement proposed is rather weak. It has already been proven that Microsoft Corporation is a monopoly. This is a company that has repeatedly and blatantly abused its monopoly power. It has obstructed viable competition, ruthlessly destroying or relegating to obscurity any company or product that attempts to compete within its established markets. The continued existence of Microsoft Corp. in its current form is anti-competition, anti-American. The computer industry as a whole will fare better with competition and this can only be achieved with the breakup of this monopoly as called for by U.S. law.
